UI5con thrives because of the people who make it happen.

Today, we spotlight the women behind the conference. They organize, create, and drive it forward with their expertise, dedication, and unique perspective.

What drives them to help shape UI5con?

“UI5con has its own almost magical spirit. When I first experienced it in 2019, I was amazed you could get delicious food, games, and learning content for free, surrounded by amazing people, and call it work! It’s an inclusive experience I want to help carry forward.

I also love trying new ideas – every year we bring fresh games, decorations, and concepts that unite the community.”

“I love turning the UI5con site into a creative experience and then welcoming the OpenUI5 community at the front desk. Seeing everyone arrive with excitement and smiles is my absolute highlight every year.”

"There's a kind of magic in a room full of people who all speak the same language – and understand that this community is only as strong as the moments they share."

“UI5con isn't organized by a committee - it's pulled together by people who genuinely love this community. Customers, partners, SAP teams, people who moved on to completely different roles years ago - they all come back and make it happen. The women in this community have been a quiet driving force behind that energy for a long time, and it shows. This is a family reunion that just happens to have great tech talks.”

"I think it's wonderful to see how an initial idea has grown into such an amazing conference that brings together so many creative and inspiring people. It's very rewarding to see everything come together as planned and to know that all the effort has truly paid off. Seeing participants attend UI5con with so much enthusiasm and friendliness makes it even more special. Being part of the creative event planning team makes me very happy and proud."
